American Red Cross Selects CLC Lodging To Continue Delivering Rapid Response Reservations for Disaster Volunteers.

Wichita, Kansas (Sept. 26, 2016) CLC Lodging, a subsidiary of FLEETCOR Technologies, Inc, announce that it will continue as the lodging provider for the American Red Cross(ARC) National volunteers during disaster recovery efforts.

CLC will continue to work under contract with ARC and network with an array of lodging partners to provide critical temporary lodging facilities for first response volunteers traveling to devastated areas.

“We are honored to continue our relationship with the American Red Cross disaster recovery efforts. Their ability to assist thousands of families and individuals all over the country is critical for these communities to begin the rebuilding process,” said Matt Rogers, CLC VP of Government Lodging.

CLC’s responsibilities include managing a nationwide network of hotel partners, which ARC utilize to house a countless number of volunteer agents who travel to the area affected by damaging weather events and other devastation which may displace multiple families and individuals from their homes and places of business.

Through more than 2,000 disaster relief operations, CLC has supported its clients in the nation’s disaster response community with comprehensive lodging, reservation and reimbursement programs.

CLC Emergency response clients include the U.S. Government’s General Services Administration, regional utility companies, environmental restoration companies and emergency transportation companies.
